

Cost of Attendance

The Cost of Attendance (COA) refers to the total estimated expenses a student may incur while attending a college or university for an academic year. COA is essential for financial planning and used by colleges to determine a student's eligibility for financial aid. It avails students a clear understanding of the financial commitment required to attend a college/university. Additionally, it serves as a limiting factor on how much financial aid a student may receive.

Educational expenses are classified in two main categories: direct costs and indirect costs. Direct costs include payments made directly to the University, including tuition and fees, books and supplies. Indirect costs consist of any expenses not directly paid to the university, such as housing and food, transportation, personal and miscellaneous expenditures.

Direct costs are determined by Atlantis University (AU). For indirect costs, we use market research and the recommended guidelines published by the Miami-Dade County Public Housing and Community Development (<https://www.miamidade.gov/global/housing/fair-market-rents.page>) and Florida's Housing Data Clearinghouse (<http://flhousingdata.shimberg.ufl.edu/income-and-rent-limits/results?nid=1>). Figures vary slightly each year.

The following components comprise Atlantis University's Cost of Attendance:

- Tuition and Fees: Primary cost covering the price of courses along with any additional mandatory fees (e.g., registration, semester, lab, and graduation fees).
- Books and Learning Materials: Estimates for textbooks, lab supplies, and other educational materials needed for courses.
- Food and Housing: Includes housing, food, utilities, telephone, meals, and groceries while attending college, regardless of a student's housing option (off-campus/with-parent).
- Transportation: Expenses for commuting to and from school, including public transportation or vehicle costs.
- Personal Expenses: An estimate of costs for clothing, haircuts, entertainment, etc. for the year. Money actually spent on these types of items will vary from student to student. These items will not appear on your AU bill.
- Miscellaneous Expenses: Other costs that may be specific to the institution or program.
- Loan Fees: There is an origination fee of 1.057% for Federal Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized student loans, which is taken out of the loan before funds are sent to AU. Actual fee amount will depend on the amount you borrow (if any).
